Troop-Carrying U.S. Jet Crashes; Report 48 Dead

Harlow Next GOP Chairman?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Party sources say the next Republican national chairman probably will come from a list of candidates being considered this weekend by President Nixon. And White House counselor Bryce N. Harlow is believed to head the list.

The 54-year-old former Oklahoman who has served Presidents Eisenhower and Nixon as congressional liaison, speechwriter and counsel, thus would assume official leadership of the GOP as it gears up for the 1972 presidential election.

The chairmanship is being vacated by Maryland Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, named by Nixon Wednesday to take over the Interior Department following the firing of Walter J. Hickel.

Harlow is a gentle, soft-spoken man who, most agree, is closer to the President than are any others under consideration.

Also on the list that has emerged following interviews with numerous congressional and party sources are Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity and assistant to the President; outgoing Rep. George Bush of Texas, and Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas.

Dole, the only one who has publicly stated he would like the job, is considered the longest shot because of the possibility his work in the Senate would not leave time for party affairs.

Two others who had been prominently mentioned now appear out of the running:

—Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who lost his Senate race to Hubert H. Humphrey, said Friday he expects to take a post in the White House as assistant or counselor to the President.

—And presidential assistant Robert H. Finch is believed to have made too many Southern enemies during his tenure as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Those betting on Harlow are quick to point out President Nixon sent him on the campaign trail this fall with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Harlow met hundreds of party officials and workers and the associations would be helpful to a chairman.

"If Harlow really wants it, it's his," said one member of Congress close to the President.

Rumsfeld, a former Illinois congressman, also is well liked by the President and is the only one with both a public name and working experience in the White House.

Bush is a 46-year-o'd Yale-educated Texan highly attractive to Republicans throughout the country. Like Dole, he has done more than the usual amount of traveling in the past few years.

Bush's associates say he had not been contacted about the post as of Friday night, however.

Dole, on the other hand, has contacted the White House himself.

"I'm interested if he wants an active chairman," Dole said in a telephone interview. "I'm not interested if he wants a caretaker. It would be a lot of work, but I would hope I could handle it."

230 Aboard Big Transport At Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A chartered DC8 jetliner carrying military personnel and dependents crashed, exploded in towering flames and burned on takeoff Friday night, killing 48 of the 230 persons aboard.

Three persons were missing, said an Alaska Air Command spokesman who gave the death total.

The spokesman said 168 persons, more than 100 of them injured, were counted at a hospital on nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base. He said 11 others were in Anchorage hospitals.

The spokesman said the plane carried 219 passengers and 11 crewmen, one more crewman than given in earlier reports.

A witness said the plane, owned by Capitol International Airways, was moving "too fast to land and too slow to take off" when it crashed at Anchorage International Airport after refueling and changing crewmen.

A survivor said the plane "only climbed for a few minutes, then it sort of glided down."

John Pederson, an airport mechanic, said the plane's nose dropped, then ran off the runway. It caught fire, he said, and then exploded twice about three or four minutes later.

Master Sgt. Robert L. Kellar of New York City, a 16-year Army veteran who said he survived two previous crashes, told of "panic at first, three or four seconds at most."

The father of six said other GIs quelled the panic "instantly, and this was one of the things that pulled us out."

Another survivor, Spec. 4 William Goez of Tacoma, Wash., said the plane approached the end of the runway.

"I thought, 'We're not going to make it'," he said, "the plane was coming apart."

Goez and Kellar, both of whom suffered minor injuries, were interviewed in a hospital after treatment.

The flight originated at McChord Air Force Base, Tacoma, Wash. It was to have stopped at Yakota, Japan, as well as at Anchorage, en route to Cam Rahn Bay, South Vietnam.

Black Panthers Still Seeking Convention Site

Howard U Nixes Use Of Buildings At Last Minute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Part two of the Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention turned into a sort of community organizers' camp-in Friday, its meeting places, its length and the number of people who intend to stay with it all uncertain.

The Black Panther party found it impossible to stick to its original plan of workshops and mass working meetings, a spokesman told a Friday night open-air rally, because Howard University refused Wednesday to let the Panthers use its buildings.

"We're still going to have our convention and our program presented," Elbert "Big Man" Howard, deputy Panther minister of information, told a cheering crowd of about 1,000 that had been sitting in the chill November air for three hours.

"However, we see that in Washington, D.C., the only people that are organized are Richard M. Nixon and J. Edgar Hoover and Martha Mitchell," he said in a comment that brought waves of laughter. "And we see these conditions could not exist if the people of Washington, D.C., were organized."

Therefore, he said, "we have got to go out to organize and librate some territory to hold a convention whether it takes one day, or two weeks, or three months."

The Panthers, Big Man said, would prepare information on how the delegates could "educate and organize the people."

There were indications, however, that large numbers of the delegates were not prepared to stay anywhere as long as Big Man thought the organizing might take.

Some of the young people, about half of them white, who stood in long registration, food and housing lines at All Souls Unitarian Church Friday are college students, here only during the Thanksgiving vacation.

1942 Cocoanut Grove Fire Placed On 'Unknown' List

BOSTON (AP) — Twenty-eight years ago tonight the worst nightclub fire on record swept the Cocoanut Grove in Boston, resulting in 491 deaths.

In the years since 1942, fire department records left one line blank: The cause.

This week the department finally closed the books on the Cocoanut Grove fire, filling in the line: "Cause of fire of unknown origin."

In the weeks after the tragedy it was assumed that the fire was started accidentally by a 16-year-old bus boy who struck a match while replacing a light ulb, igniting an imitation palm tree.

The fire department study rejected this.

"After a careful study of all the evidence and an analysis of all the facts presented," said District Fire Chief John P. Vahey, "the department was unable to find the conduct of this boy caused the fire."

Said Vahey in his summary: "No evidence of incendiarism is found. The fire department is unable to determine the original cause or causes of this fire."

A National Fire Protection Association study published 20 years after the fire said: "All reports of the Cocoanut Grove tragedy indicate that there was a panic, a rush for the main exit, and then helpless victims fell and were caught in the rush of others coming behind them."

One of the victims was cowboy movie star Buck Jones. Two others were a bridal couple married three hours earlier. All 22 members of a party celebrating an engagement perished.

But out of the holocaust came new treatments for burns replacing the time-honored tannic acid.

At Massachusetts General Hospital, doctors didn't take time to clean burns. Petroleum jelly was smeared on and covered with gauze bandages. Each vicim was given oxygen and plasma, X-rayed for penumonia then given sulfa-thiozene to arrest possible lung damage.

Another result of the fire was sweeping revisions of fire laws to provide, among other things, for more exits. At the Grove that night there were only two unlocked exits. Nine other doors were locked. A 12th had been bricked up.

Pope Calls For New Efforts To Bring Peace In Vietnam

MANILA (AP) — Pope Paul VI today called for an end to the Vietnam war as a means of "working for peace in the world and the well-being of all mankind."

In a dramatic address, the pontiff urged "the pursuit of honest and sincere negotiations" and begged world leaders "to avoid any action that could harm the climate of understanding so necessary for the success of the current talks" in Paris.

The Pope told 150 Vietnamese clergyman and laymen that he was sure their embattled homeland would someday "know better days."

Speaking in French at the home of the papal nuncio, where he is staying while he is in the Philippines, the pontiff asked his audience: "But, you will say, what is the Pope doing to help us attain that peace which everyone longs for?

"Dear sons and daughters and dear friends," he continued, "we are doing everything in our power. In particular we unceasingly urge the pursuit of honest and sincere negotiations. This seems to us not only the surest road to a just and lasting peace, but the only way worthy of love."

The pontiff had been invited to stop briefly in Saigon during his current 25,000-mile travels through Asia and the Pacific. But Vatican sources said he turned the invitation down because he had not been able to go to Hanoi also. The pontiff did not mention the invitation in his address today.

While he was en route to Manila Friday from his stop in Cyclone-stricken East Pakistan, his chartered jetliner flew him directly over Cambodia and South Vietnam, sites of the conflict he has so often deplored in his seven-year pontificate.

Before he made his address, the Pope rode in motorcades through the streets of Manila, addressed cheering students at a university, and heard Roman Catholic bishops from 15 nations commend him for the calm way he reacted to a knifer's attempt on his life.

Holiday Thought Turns To Tragedy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nathan W. Mehaffey, 18, of suburban Shaker Heights, was electrocuted Friday while making a Christmas present for his mother with a power saw she had given him last Christmas.

The youth was found lying on his back on the garage floor at his home by his mother, Mrs. Martha Mehaffey. A fire rescue team failed to revive him.

Police said a test of the saw produced sparks and theorized that the youth's shoes had become wet while walking from the house to the garage.

Man's Death Probed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Police were investigating the death of Foster Hess, 65, found in a wooded area in the Mount Auburn section late Friday night. Police said he was either struck or fell on a rock causing a fatal head injury.

Armco Sues Maryland Rights Panel

BALTIMORE (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. has filed suit against the Maryland Human Relations Commission asking the Baltimore City Circuit Court to enjoin the commission from holding a public hearing Dec. 15 on allegations the steel company is discriminating against Negroes.

The commission says Armco has discriminated in promoting Negro plant workers to supervisory jobs in the Baltimore advanced-materials works. It also demanded damages of over $30,000 for the company's alleged past failure to promote Negroes on the same basis as whites.

Armco's suit says the commission's proposals are "punitive and unlawful." Judge James A. Perrott gave the commission until Dec. 7 to reply to Armco's suit.

Commission-supplied figures show a Negro employment of between 25 and 29 per cent at the local production plant. But its says only one of 99 supervisors is Negro. In office catagories, Negroes hold 12 of 566 positions, according to the commission.

The commission has proposed three points:

1. A promotion method to assure Negroes a 25 per cent representation on the plant supervisory force.

2. The entire Negro production force be awarded back pay from a fund equal to the amount of wages lost as a result of their failure to be promoted to proportion to their numbers in the plant.

3. A plan be devised to continue supplementing their wages until the plant reaches the 25 per cent quota.

Britons Honor U.S. Marine For Heroism 20 Years Ago

SAN MARCOS, Calif. (AP) — The decision Donald Saunchergrow made 20 years ago risked a court-martial, but he did it for a handful of Englishmen.

In the frozen, fighting retreat from North Korea's Chosin Reservoir, the 21-year-old Marine disobeyed orders and stayed with British Royal Marine commandos in a desperate rear guard action against encircling Chinese Communist troops.

The U.S. Marines forgot about his breach of discipline but not the British. Today he is being honored at a formal ceremony in the commando unit's mess at Bickleigh, England.

"This is like going home for me," Saunchegrow said in leaving his home in California on military flight arranged by President Nixon.

"It's kind of a funny feeling in me, home is where your friends are."

Saunchegrow, now married and the father of four, was invited by Lt. Col. P. R. Thomas, executive officer of the Royal Marine Infantry Training Center at Lympstone near Plymouth. Thomas was a lieutenant in the 41 Independent Commando in 1950, one of the men Saunchegrow aided.

A corporal, Saunchegrow was one of 25 truck drivers of the 1st Marine Division assigned temporarily to the 41 Commandos operating with the Americans.

Seven Red Chinese divisions sweeping south from Manchuria attempted to trap the allied force on Nov. 27.

In subzero cold, Saunchegrow's heavy weapons carrier brought up the rear with new British casualties.

After the wounded were evacuated, 18 surviving commandos volunteered to go back through Communist lines to recover some guns. Saunchegrow disobeyed orders, he admits, and insisted on driving the handful of British. They fought for enough time for the other troops to withdraw.

Saunchegrow's weapons carrier slid off an icy road and overturned just as the party reached safety. He recalled: "My outfit was pretty mad about what I did. They were ready to report me missing in action, but my regimental sergeant held up the report because he said he felt sure I'd be back."

Saunchegrow has been unable to work since contracting viral encephalistis, or sleeping sickness, six years ago.

After her husband flew off to the reunion, Mrs. Saunchegrow said:

"He's so very, very proud."

6 Hickel Aides Given The Axe After Boss Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an action the White House characterized as routine, six aides to former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel have been fired on one-hour notice.

The action came 48 hours after Hickel was fired by President Nixon for lack of "mutual confidence."

"From the White House standpoint, it is normal that when a Cabinet secretary changes within his department," an administration spokesman said.

A source in the Interior Department said the six were called together shortly before quitting time Friday by Frederic V. Malek, a White House special assistant, and William Rogers, deputy undersecretary of the Interior.

"There was no reason given at all," said Josef F. Holbert, one of the six. "We were given only an hour's notice."

Holbert was deputy director of information and long-time press aide to Hickel.

The other five:

—Charles Meacham, U.S. commissioner for fish and wildlife and deputy assistant secretary for fish, wildlife and parks. He was Alaska's director of international fisheries when Hickel was governor of Alaska.

—Dr. Leslie Glasgow, assistant secretary for fish, wildlife and parks. He was fish and wildlife commissioner for Louisiana before joining the Interior Department.

—Tom Holley, Hickel's congressional liaison director.

—Pat Ryan, executive assistant to Hickel.

—Dr. Donald Dunlop, science adviser to the secretary.

Department sources said the six were told their employment was to be terminated by the end of the day.

Man Admits Slaying Try Against Pope

MANILA (AP) — The Bolivian painter charged with trying to murder Pope Paul VI admitted his guilt today and said he felt "lousy" because his attempt failed.

He also said he would try the same thing again, "with pleasure," if he had the chance.

Benjamin Mendoza y Amor, 35, of La Paz, who has been charged with assault and attempted murder, commented to newsmen after being brought to a news conference by police.

"Are you the one who attempted to assassinate the Pope?" one newsman asked.

"Yes, sir," Mendoza replied without a pause.

A man in priest's robes tried to kill Pope Paul with a knife at the Manila airport Friday, moments after the pontiff arrived on the third stop of his tour of Asia and the Pacific. Mendoza was carried away by police. The Pope was not hurt.

The news conference was held at the National Bureau of Investigation, where Mendoza is being held.

Mendoza said he thought Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos was the man who parried his hand when he attacked the Pope.

Report Continued Red Activity Inside DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today there have been more than 14,000 incidents and sightings indicating enemy activity in Vietnam's Demilitarized Zone since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam on Nov. 1, 1968.

During the same period, a spokesman said, there have been more than 7,000 "engagements" in which American planes, artillery or ground forces attacked North Vietnamese positions inside the 6-mile-wide zone.

The spokesman said U.S. and South Vietnamese patrols operate in the southern half of the DMZ "from time to time, whenever there are indications of enemy activity in the southern half which may constitute a threat to allied forces located in the Republic of Vietnam south of the DMZ."

The U.S. Command said military security "precludes providing frequency of these patrols or public announcement of these patrols. If patrols make significant contact they are announced just as is any significant contact."

The Command said there are no U.S. ground combat troops operating in North Vietnam, but when asked if the term "ground combat troops" includes reconnaissance patrols and sabotage teams, a spokesman said: "I'm not going to go beyond my statement."

It is known that small reconnaissance patrols made up of civilian irregulars and led by American special forces troops operate in Laos. There have been unconfirmed reports of similar patrols operating on North Vietnam's border with Laos to check out the movement of enemy supplies and troops.

Under questioning, the Command acknowledged that any of the incidents inside the DMZ are not reported on a daily basis. But the spokesman said there have been no enemy mortar or rocket attacks across the DMZ since March. The last time an American reconnaissance plane was fired on was two months ago, he said. This had not been reported previously.

U.S. officials maintain that under an understanding that went along with the bombing halt, Hanoi agreed to keep the DMZ free of military activity. Hanoi has denied that there is any such understanding.

Sources in Saigon said many of the incidents and sightings reported by the U.S. Command are minor, including such things as the sighting of freshly built bunkers and truck lights that might indicate movements of supplies.

Informants said the number of reported sightings goes up sometimes and down at other times and that they attach no real significance to the patern.

The sources said, however, that elements of one North Vietnamese regiment infiltrated across the DMZ into South Vietnam two months ago to a point north of Quang Tri city.

The sources said they have no indications of any unusual build-up in the zone at this point, but they did not rule out the possibility that the North Vietnamese might launch some attacks against allied positions along the DMZ.

There has been speculation that because of the U.S. air strikes over the North last weekend, the North Vietnamese might retaliate with attacks across the DMZ.

In addition to the air strikes already announced, the Pentagon disclosed Friday that U.S. warplanes struck North Vietnamese positions near the Son Tay prison camp during the unsuccessful U.S. attempt last week to free captured Americans.

Pointers From Penni

Now that the big Turkey Day is past, 'we homemakers face the unenviable task of cleaning our homes after the festivities. If we start now, those spills and scuffs will be easier to remove. And you'll be ready early for the visitors and activities of the holiday season.

Let's begin with the spots and stains from spills on the upholstered furniture and carpet.

Successful stain removal starts with the selection of a method of stain removal that is suited to both stain and fabric.

Kind of stain — Identify the stain, if possible. The treatment for one kind of stain may set another. If you can't determine what caused the stain, it will help if you can tell whether it is a greasy stain, a non-greasy stain, or a combination of the two.

Kind of fabric — Before using any stain remover, be sure it will not harm the fabric.

Some stain removers that do not damage fibers may change the appearance of the treated area so that it looks as bad as or worse than the original stain. They may, for example, cause fading or bleeding of dyes, loss of luster, shrinkage or stretching of the fabric. They may remove nonpermanent finishes or designs. It is often difficult to use any stain remover on such fabrics as satins, crepes, taffetas, silk and rayon moires, gabardines, and velvets without causing some change in appearance.

To determine whether a stain remover will change the appearance of the fabric to be treated, test it first. Test on a sample of the material, if possible, or on a hidden part of the article — a seam allowance, hem, inside of pocket, or tail of a blouse or shirt.

For a complete list of stain removers and how to use them, ask for the USDA bulletin No. 62 — "Removing Stains From Fabrics" — at the Extension Office.

First Aid Treatment for Furniture Mishaps

Blot up or absorb liquid or other spills as soon as possible, using clean white unstarched cloths or paper towels. The longer the spill remains, the harder it is to remove.

Don't brush or rub the spot any more than can be helped. Excessive action may result in a distortion worse than the spot. Begin at the outer edge and work toward the center of the stained area.

Before using a formula, test it and note its effect on the dyes. If the color comes away, better call a professional.

Have patience. Some spots require much time and work to remove and some may never yield.

Never permit a wetted area to dry slowly to air. Blot as much as possible and then leave a pad of weighted cloth or paper towels on it to absorb the remaining moisture.

Serving America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

With snow weather coming on, especially in the central and northern parts of the state, we tend to forget about the home lawn until spring comes around.

Then we notice the grass is covered with a dense, whitish-pink, or dirty gray to black mold growth. That's right — snow mold, and when you see it, the damage has been done.

So, the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is your best bet right now. Apply a fungicide before snow falls. Use Dyrene, Ortho Lawn and Turf Fungicide, Difolatan, Pahltan, Daconil 2787, or cadmium compounds. You'll need about three applications, one now, another in late December and a third in mid-February or early March.

Apply when the snow is off the ground. If snow remains all winter, the second and third applications will not be practical and some snow mold may develop. In such cases, brush or rake the matted grass in affected areas and then apply a fungicide.

Last year as we entered the Yuletide season, an inaccurate news report richocheted across the country spreading fear in the minds of those who enjoy the beauty of a poinsettia in the home at Christmas. In essence, the report stated that poinsettias are poisonous.

This is a "no no." The non-research based report that the poinsettia is a highly toxic and deadly plant which causes conditions from dermatitis to death is simply not true. Since several members of the poinsettia's family: the Spurges, (Euphorbiaceae) are poisonous, it is natural to suspect that the poinsettia itself might be toxic.

A research project, underway at The Ohio State University with the Department of Horticulture and Zoology cooperating, was set up to determine the toxicity of poinsettias to rats. Rats are customarily used as test objects for determining the relative toxicity of insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, etc., and the results and values used as a basis for rating the toxicity of the material to humans.

An analysis of the preliminary data indicates that the poinsettia is not toxic to laboratory rats. This information plus already published information of nursery workers handling plants from production to market with no ill effects from the juices of the plants and leaves, assures us that this Christmas plant is not dangerous to our families.

4-H On The Go

Do you know what county in Ohio had the first horse club? Right. Pickaway County. The Pickaways County Colt and Equitation Club, first known as the Pickaway County 4-H American Saddle Horse Club, was organized in 1954 by Dr. Floyd Dunlap. It also has the distinction of being the second horse club organized in the country. Now there are six equine clubs in the county with over 100 members.

A 4-H horse project will help you learn the fundamentals of feeding, care, management and training of a colt, pony or saddle horse. There are six different horse projects that are designed for both Western and English style riding.

Horst clubs organize several trail rides each year which are mainly for a good time.

The 4-H horse project aims to help 4-H members to:

1. Develp leadership, initiative, self-relaince, sportsmanship, and other desirable traits of character.
2. Experience the pride of owning a horse or pony and being responsible for its management.
3. Develop an appreciation of horseback riding as a healthy and wholesome form of recreation.
4. Learn skill in horsemanship and an understanding of the business of breeding, raising, and training horses.
5. Increase knowledge of safety precautions to prevent injury to themselves, others and their mount.
6. Promote greater love for animals and a humane attitude toward them.
7. Be better prepared for citizenship responsibilities through working in groups and supporting community horse projects and activities.

If you would like to join a horse club, call the Extension Office, at 474-7534.

The Saltcreek Unshockables, Saltcreek Sew and Serve, Saltcreek Livestock, and Charcoalers held their annual achievement meeting November 24, at the Saltcreek School with the Saltcreek PTO.

Advisers presented pins, certificates and premium money to each member. The livestock club was a 1970 honor club.

Refreshments were served by the PTO.

The Colt and Equitation Club held its annual meeting November 21 at the 4-H and Grange Building. Trophies were presented to 1970 fair winners. Each member received pins, certificates, and premium money for their year's work.

A covered dish supper and film was enjoyed by members, parents and guests.

Rain Soaks Wide Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain drenched a large part of the Far West and the Midwest today while snow piled up in mountain areas of the West and dusted the region from Montana to Minnesota.

A storm off the Northwest coast weakened, but its effects spread, scattering rain over most of California and heavy snow into mountain sections of western Oregon and northern and central California.

Rain or drizzle dampened much of the region from the Great Lakes to the Ohio Valley. Traces of snow fell in portions of Michigan.

Mild temperatures were common in almost the entire nation outside the north-central region. Clear skies favored the southeast and the Southwest outside California.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 below at Cut Bank, Mont., to 71 at Brownsville, Tex.

Blight, Stress Go Hand In Hand

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Many stress conditions apparently caused greater loss of corn yields from the corn blight compared to fields that did not show stress symptoms.

These stress conditions were low fertility, weedy condition, poor drainage, droughty conditions, etc.

The poor fertility factor is probably the greatest and certainly is one that could be avoided. In recent years, the costs of fertilizers has risen less than any other input factor and still many farmers fail to use it to its maximum.

Many farmers seem completely unconcerned about overdoing on machinery, in many cases slighting fertilizer.

* * *

HOWEVER, adding any commercial fertilizer to any soil without determining its acidity and fertility level can be unsound, uneconomical and frequently wasteful.

A soil test will assist farmer in locating acid soils on his farm. The test will tell the ph level of any soil. A soil with a ph value of 5.0 to 5.5 is too acid for most crops. A ph of 6.0 to 6.5 is desirable for most farm crops.

Unless the acidity requirement is satisfied through the use of lime, most plants will not respond to their fullest potential, regardless of the amount of fertilizer applied.

The soil test will tell you if your soil is low, medium or high in phosphorus and potash. If your soil is low in potash but high in phosphate farmers should use a high analysis potash fertilizer.

In other words, you need more potash than phosphorus to balance your soil. Many farmers will blindly use a fertilizer that contains the same amount of phosphorus and potash and one of the nutrients may not be needed at all.

There is no need for a farmer to farm blindfolded. He should have his soil tested and then fertilize according to the needs of the soil and not by guess. Don't guess — soil test.

The soils lab at the Ohio State University and commercial laboratories are not crowded at this time of the year, so make your fertilizer plans early. Test your soil now.

Proper Thermostat Setting Key To Comfortable Home

During the heating season, one area of contention is the setting of the thermostat. The wife turns it up and the husband turns it down.

Some comments about using a thermostat might help reduce the discord. First of all, it might help to forget about the numbers on the thermostat dial and set it to the most comfortable temperature and leave it there.

When determining this temperature, the setting should be raised or lowered only one degree or mark on the dial, until you feel comfortable.

A thermostat is intended to maintain a uniform temperature. It should be allowed to do its job and should not be used as a hand operated off-on switch, says Roger Miller, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University.

Frequent adjustment is not neceseary, he says, pointing out that excessive adjustment overtaxes the heating system and results in uneven temperatures.

* * *

IF it is desirable to raise the temperature a considerable amount, like after an extended stay away from the house or after a night setback, Miller suggests setting the dial for what is usually comfortable, say 75 degrees, and not at the top of the scale.

A setting higher than 75 degrees will not make the temperature reach 75 any faster. Similarly, setting the dial at the bottom of the scale will not cool the house any faster than if the temperature indicator were lowered only a few degrees.

The speed of response to a change in thermostat seting depends on the nature of the heating equipment, the construction of the house and the severity of the weather outside.

Night setback of the thermostat can be used effectively with warm air and hot water systems but is not recommended for radiant panel heating systems. Night setback involves setting the thermostat back 5 to 10 degrees during the night sleeping hours.

This practice may result in fuel savings of 5 to 8 per cent depending on house construction, says the engineer.

Thermostats are available with an automatic timer to set back the temperature in the evening and set it up again in the morning, or you can do this manually with a regular thermostat.

The Adult Reading World

New library books which are well suited for Christmas gifts will be on display next week at the Quality Courts Motel on Route 23 South. This special showing is for the convenience of the harried buyer who does not have unlimited time for out-of-town shopping. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday noons from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., librarians will be in the motel loby to discuss the books. They are not for sale. Persons who wish to buy them must do so from their own bookseller or from the publisher. Later, the books will be placed in circulation at the Pickaway County District Public Library.

Titles of particular concern to men will be shown. Among them are some on sports, some on business, and new scientific publications.

Recent improvements in underseas photography have made available in gorgeous color the sights of the ocean depths. One particularly striking volume is "The Shark: Splendid Savage of the Sea" by Jacques-Yves Costeau. It contains one hundred twenty four color photographs.

For pet lovers, there are beautifully illustrated volumes on horses. The National Geographic book of dogs, "Man's Best Friend," has been revised and updated and is even more attractive than when it was first published in 1958.

Those who enjoy crafts may wish to browse through "The History of Printed Textiles by Stuart Robinson. "African Cooking" of the Time-Life series, is in two volumes. History, customs, and foods are covered in the first. Listed in the second, a spiral paperback, are the recipes mentioned in the larger book.

Included in the exhibit will be many handsome travel books. Some are published by the National Geographic Society, and others, by the Sierra Club.

Biographies of Andy Granatelli, Charles Dickens, and Charles Wilson Peal are scheduled, as well as miscellaneous titles such as "Hatha Yoga" and "Vanishing Peoples of the Earth."

There will be a few children's stories, and also attractive titles for young adults. It is hoped that many residents of Pickaway County will take advantage of this opportunity to examine new books at their leisure.

A survey of political campaign contributions by America's wealthiest individuals during the 1968 presidential election year turns up some interesting tidbits. Republican candidates were the major beneficiaries, reaping $1.3 million in donations from 40 of the 66 richest people. Democrats collected $106,000 from 12 persons, some of whom hedged by also aiding GOP runners.

This seems to show conclusively that the rich do not control politics, at least not by contributions. Less than $1.5 million does not go very far in financing presidential election campaigns.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Official optimism about the economy, especially that it is responding to anti-inflation efforts, now has no more power to inspire Americans than the single note of a tin whistle.

True, the dmnis'rati) can marshal some esoteric data to support its claims, but the preponderance of pocketbook evidence reaching the public is very dismal. Prices are rising, buying power falling. And jobs are being lost.

In business, in labor unions, in the great research foundations, on campuses, in kitchens and in the very federal offices from which come those calm assurances that trends are favorable, the same questions are asked:

Where do we go from here? Why is it that price increases not only persist but show signs of getting worse? What new weapons can be brought into battle? How drastically must administration policy be changed?

Throughout its 23 months in office, the administration has relied on a sort of textbook attitude toward the problems, putting its faith in fiscal and monetary policies as the two levers that worked the economic machine.

It has been willing during this time to take much criticism, because such measures work slowly and cannot always be defended. It abjured more direct action. It renounced cajolery, pleas or threats to labor and management.

Now, shockingly, it has wound up with the worst of all situations: rising prices and rising unemployment. Somehow, the old rules that have been relied upon so completely are not holding up.

So. Many have felt the tradeoff to be too primitive a weapon against inflation; now they find it doesn't always work either.

From various directions now the adminisration is being urged to intervene more directly in the economy by using its prestige and its educational and communicative powers to help avert inflationary wage and price situations.

The Committee for Economic Development is the latest to suggest an "incomes policy" in the form of voluntary wage and price guideposts. It's wage-price policy subcommittee is made up of very high ranking executives and financial officers.

The administration has steadfastly refrained from embracing such proposals, however, seemingly believing such action would violate the purity of a marketplace in which supply and demand has historically been the determinant of prices.

But that purity was violated long ago. The Federal Reserve limits interest rates. The Department of Agriculture limits farm production. Fair trade laws regulate prices. And minimums affect wages and utility charges.

Industry is being called upon every day to show more responsibility, a greater social conscience and more activity in the public interest, especially regarding environment and safety. Is inflation so different?

One suggestion now circulating is that the tax system be used to enforce wages and prices that are noninflationary. Under this plan, companies and unions would be penalized for damaging the economy by contributing to inflation.

Whatever move is taken, it seems quite likely that the administration will be forced into a more active posture regarding wages and prices.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals this time of year is what to do with leftover Thanksgiving turkey.

In the old days when a family often had as many as 10 or more children, it wasn't so much of a problem. The children, told sternly "eat turkey or starve," could munch their unwilling way through a turkey carcass in less than a week.

Today, no matter whether the turkey weighs 10 pounds or 40, the task of disposing of its leftovers becomes increasingly acute. The more you get rid of, the more there seems to be left.

The problem is one that is hard to solve by either brute force or by culinary cunning. After all, when a desperate mother has converted it into hash, made it into a souffle, boiled it into a soup, and smuggled it into a fake pizza pie, what else can a mother do with leftover turkey?

She cannot even give it to the deserving poor, because they feel they deserve something better. Cash is, leftover turkey no!

Desperate situations sometimes require desperate measures. Here are a few extreme ways to get rid of leftover turkey if conventional methods fail:

Dig a hole in your neighbor's back yard some black midnight and bury it there. Don't worry about his dog uncovering it. Your neighbor's dog is as tired of leftover turkey as yours is.

Buy a weather balloon, tie the turkey to it, and send it aloft. The odds are several million to one that it won't come down in your block.

Hack it into as many pieces as possible. Wrap half of them in old newspapers and secretly toss them down sewers some distance from your own neighborhood. Wrap the others in gift papers labeled, "Don't Open Till Christmas," and mail them anonymously to your favorte enemies.

Move to another apartment leaving the turkey behind in a locked closet. You may end up by having to face a lawsuit filed by your former landlord or the new tenant, but that's a risk you simply have to take.

And now may I close with a personal plea? Whatever you decide to do about that leftover turkey, please don't ship the stuff home. That wouldn't be sporting, would it, considering all the free advice I've given you.

Anyway, if you try to play such an unfair trick, guess what you'll get back by return mail besides your own leftover turkey?

My leftover turkey.

Instead, he donned it to be met by a welcoming-committee of near-naked Indians.

Speaking Of Your Health

A special cookbook, whose instructions can help many handicapped pople, has been written by the members of the staff of the Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine in New York City. The authors — J. L. Dr. Howard A. Rush, a pioneer in the rehabilitation of the handicapped, wrote the foreword.

The prevention of heart attacks is the ultimate aim of research scientists all over the world. If it can be learned how to predict a heart attack, many people may be spared this calamity.

Dr. Menard Gertler and his research team at the New York University Medical Center believe that high risk factors can be pinpointed and removed long before a heart attack occurs.

By recognizing the speed and flow of the blood and by studying intricate chemical balances within the blood, that ultimate hope of prevention of heart attacks may soon be within our grasp.

Hundreds of tests made by Dr. Gertler's team are fed into a computer with the aim of preventing or anticipating heart attacks.

Hodgkin's disease is considered a chronic, malignant disorder of the lymph glands. The outlook for the control of this rare form of cancer has not always been bright.

Treatment by drugs and X-ray has not always been successful in keeping this desperate condition in check.

Today, there are some new and remarkable chemicals which, when used in combination, have been responsible for greater control of Hodgkin's disease.

At the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., and at the St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London, cases of this dread disease have been kept from progressing with far greater effectiveness than ever before.

Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod, of the institute, says, "By the judicious use of radiation and drug combinations, the outlook for Hodgkin's disease is materially improved."

These strides are only the beginning of the fast hope that is held out for the total cure of Hodgkin's disease.

Fund Aids 6 Orphans Of Accident

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — A man credited with helping save the lives of six young girls in a fiery auto accident says contributions are coming from as far away as Germany for a fund he created to help pay the victims' mounting medical bills.

Robert Ellis, 53, who went into a flaming camper truck with Charles Barksdale, 34, and pulled the Girl Scouts to safety, established the fund with help from the Wells Fargo Bank in Martinez.

The total has passed the $7,000 mark, Ellis reported Thursday, but more will be needed because of the girls' serious injuries.

Two of the girls, Lisa and Trudy Harrington, were orphaned. Their parents died when their truck and an oncoming car collided headon. If any money is left after extensive treatment, it will be used to set up scholarships for them.

Ellis said the eventual cost has not been determined but that it is certain to exceed insurance coverage.

Trudy, 10, whose right hand was amputated, remains in the hospital. So do Dawn Harland, 12, who had her spleen removed, and Kirsten Stewart, 12, who recovered consciousness Monday nearly a month after the Oct. 25 crash on the Benicia-Martinez bridge.

Let's Invade Libya

By JEFFREY HART

That's right, Libya. I admit I shared your surprise, not to say shock when the idea was first broached to me. Let's do what? But ever since the collapse of Secretary Rogers's peace iitiative in the Middle East I have heard the idea bruited about by a variety of informed people, and in the November 17 issue of National Review one Charles Benson provides a definitive statement of the Invade Libya case. This article is remarkable in more ways than one. First of all, it makes a powerful — I would say persuasive — case. Consider:

1. Employing the Arab-Israeli conflict as their basic dynamic, the Soviets are now in the process of taking over the Arab world for a stretegic position. As the present trend continues, we may expect to see Russian naval, air and missile installations all along the African coast of the Mediterranean, outflanking NATO and rendering the position of the Sixth Fleet untenable.

2. Nothing now present in the American military and political strategy can cope with this tide of events. The Rogers peace initiative was probably hopeless from the start. During the Six-Day war of 1967 the Israelis quadrupled the stragegic depth of their defenses and cannot be expected to give up this advantage without a definitive settlement of the conflict; but such a settlement is unthinkable from the standpoint of the guerrilla leaders and for substantial segments of Arab opinion. Indeed, events since the ceasefire give the Arabs less reason to desire a settlement than before. Massed artillery, now protected by Soviet ground-to-air missiles, has changed the balance on the Suez front in a way favorable to the Arabs.

3. The shift in strategic advantage in favor of the Soviets throughout the Mediterranean region poses an even more serious threat to the Israelis. In the event of an all-out Arab-Israeli clash, say, three years from now, U.S. support for Israel, designed to counter Soviet support for the Arabs, would face insuperable obstacles. The sine qua non of American support, the Sixth Fleet, would have been neutralized.

Thus, from air installations near Tobruk and from the former Wheelus Air Base at Tripoli, advanced Russian interceptors such as the MIG-23 could dominate the carrier-based planes. Additionally, the ships themselves would be vulnerable to Soviet Styx missiles. Short of nuclear war, there is no way of retaining a strategic presence east of Sicily in the face of the capabilities of projected Soviet bases. But a U.S. nuclear ultimatum would lack credibility, in view of the fact that the Soviets now have achieved nuclear parity.

4. Therefore a U.S. counter-move in the Middle East must be conventional in character. "Suppose," writes Mr. Benson, "rather than attacking the Russians directly, or sending American troops to die for the sake of Israel, or waiting around until the Russians (using Arab bodies) actually attack Israel before we decide what we are going to do, we were to take Libya. Destroy the offending bases before they are developed, seize Libya by military force, occupy it, and if necessary drive or transport the roughly two million inhabitants of that "nation" into Egypt." As this initiative got underway, President Nixon would be on the hot-line to Moscow, making the seriousness of our purpose clear and denying any intention to launch a strategic strike against the Soviets themselves.

5. The Soviets are not prepared to risk a first strike against the U.S. with ICBM's. At present they do not have the capacity to counter such a U.S. invasion by conventional means. The defense capacities of the Libyans are minimal.

6. At one stroke, the Soviet designs in the Mediterranean would have been countered: NATO would not be outflanked; the menacing Soviet presence would not hav been extendd eastward along the Mediterranean coast; instead of Israel existing as an isolated enclave, Egypt would be sandwiched in between Israel and the American presence in Libya.

7. The reverberations would be global. The Third World proxy powers would have another factor to deal with when they considered operating as a staging area in so-called People's Wars. Libya would constitute a NATO staging area, backing up Western Europe and complicating the Soviet strategic perspective there. And, of course, American power would be applicable in the Mediterranean whatever the mood of the latest Italian coalition government.

8. Finally, the U.S. would have demonstrated an answer to the Soviet "polistrategy," an answer not at all manifest up to now. Russia's attempt to export revolution would have resulted in the strategic collapse of the structure it had hoped to build.

And who is the brilliant Charles Benson? I had never heard of him. And National Review identifies him with interesting vagueness as "formerly vice president of the Metron Corporation" and as serving "since 1965 as a private consultant to the aerospace and defense industries." Hmmm.

Auto Sales Well Below 1969 Mark

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto sales this year are down some one million cars below the totals at the same point in 1969.

The figures issued by the major manufacturers this week indicate that up to Nov. 20 new car sales stood at 6,575,343 compared to 7,621,917 at the same time last year.

The Big Three automakers—Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.—all reported declines in sales. Only fourth place American Motors Corp. reported a gain.

Lee A. Iacocca, president of Ford's North American operations, said: "The climate of the auto industry is bad because of the GM strike and reflects on all of us."

Imported car sales, on the other hand, were reported well ahead of their 1969 levels. A record setting 903,143 imports were reported sold thus far compared to the previous high of 753,647 sold at this point last year.

Volkswagen again dominated the import field with 430,340 cars sold so far in 1970, contrasted with 368,715 for 1969.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Proved Her Love By Miserableness

DEAR ABBY: In the past, my husband got a disease, got a girl pregnant, lied, cheated—you name it, he did it. He is almost 50-years old and he hasn't changed any.

We've been married 30 years and have a fine family, which I brought up practically alone. When the children were youngsters he never played with them or brought them any toys, but for some tramp, he always found the time and money.

He is still forever making excuses to go out. He waits until it's dark. The bum.

You are probably asking why I put up with it all these years. Mostly because of the children, God love them. I kept my feeling and all my heartaches from them, and all the while my husband said he loved me and he couldn't live without me. (Bull, of course.) Abby, now that the kids are gone, do you think it was worth it?

STUCK IT OUT

DEAR STUCK: If you do, it was.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please tell me which name comes first in writing season's greetings! The husband's or wife's? Thank you.

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: In the more formal signatures, it is, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe." When first names are used, its Mary and John Doe."

DEAR ABBY: My parents would have celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last week if my father had lived, but he died 25 years ago and my mother never remarried.

I spoke to my mother on the date that would have been their anniversary and much to my surprise she was very angry at me for not having given her a "Golden Wedding Anniversary" party. I felt just awful about it after realizing that she had really expected it.

I live 100 miles away, but keep in close touch with my mother. When she told me she had even bought herself a gold dress for the occasion, I was heartsick. Do many people celebrate an anniversary after their mates are gone? I guess the older I get the more stupid I get.

STUPID DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: There is no reason to "celebrate" an anniversary after one's mate is gone. It's a thoughtful gesture to entertain the surviving mate on the date of her (or his) anniversary, but you needn't feel "stupid" for failing to give your mother a "Golden Wedding Party" under these circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on that woman realtor with the big bottom who wore slacks to the office to show houses? I am also a woman realtor and I have worn slacks for years because I, too, am a very large woman and most of the dresses available in my size were much too short for me.

Large women have had a lot of trouble these last 10 years trying to keep their belly buttons covered, and I hate to show houses with my navel showing. My fellow realtors should thank me for keeping America beautiful by keeping myself covered.

However, now that larger dresses are available, (even though they are the ugliest things in creation) I shall wear them.

Greene Deputy Shot To Death

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A Greene County Sheriff's deputy was shot to death accidentally by a fellow deputy early Friday as they investigated a burglary in suburban Beaver Creek.

Sheriff Russell Bradley said Donald Perry, 31, was shot below the left shoulder at the rear entrance of Fry's Auto Parts by Deputy Vaughn L. Mitchell. They were responding to a call for help from Beaver Creek police. Perry was dead at the scene.

Bradley said Perry was dressed in civilian clothes and working on assignment when he apparently overhead a call for assistance from the police who reported a burglary in progress at Fry's.

Mitchell reportedly mistook Perry for one of the burglars.

Perry, who quit his job as deputy in Greene County in 1964 to take a post with Data Corp., here as a security guard, rejoined the sheriff's office this September.

Mitchell, described as "very, very shook up by the incident," was taken to his home.

He became a deputy in 1969 and had previously worked on the Morrow Police Department and the Warren County Sheriff's office.

Women On Pill Running Risk Of Heart Attack

LONDON (AP)— Women on the pill shouldn't row with their husbands or get het up slaving over a hot stove, a scientist warned today.

If they do, they're running the risk of a heart attack.

But if they can't stop themselves they should try smoking a cigarette.

Women who take contraceptive pills and worry about day-to-day affai5s are more likely to have a thrombosis than their pillless sisters, said Dr. Kitty Little of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority.

SERTOMA SPEAKER — Coach John Lawhorn, left, coach of Circleville High School's 1970 basketball team, was guest speaker Wednesday at the Sertoma Club meeting. Lawhorn addressed the club, telling about his coaching career and the prospects for the 1970-71 basketball season at CHS. With him is program chairman "Snap" Ankrom.

Black Panthers Organize Constitutional Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black Panther party organizers registered delegates to their Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention Friday while a hassle continued over a meeting site.

Carloads of young people, both white and black, trickled into the capital for the two-day finale of an effort to rewrite the U.S. Constitution and ban what the Panthers say is rampan racism in the country.

Howard Universiy had agreed to host the estimated 7,500-10,000 delegates, but urned the Panthers down saying a $1,000 down payment for expenses arrived a day late.

After repeatedly demanding that the mostly-black school host the convention free, the Panthers agreed to pay the $7,337 Howard said use of school facilities would cost.

Howard University President Dr. James Cheek held discussions on the controversy most of Thanksgiving Day, but a Panther spokesman said early today there had been no meetings with Cheek Thursday and the impasse remained.

Meanwhile, some delegates registering at various sites Thursday were told Howard was still the place to go. But because of the dispute, the only item on today's schedule is registration at All Soul's Unitarian Church.

Joining the Panthers as convention participants are other radical allies like the Gay Liberation Front, the Women's Collective and the Youth International party.

The convention is a followup to a Labor Day gathering in Philadelphia where a series of workshops produced rough notes from which the Panthers say the new constitution will be molded.

Howard was the Panthers' third choice for a convention site. Refused by University of Maryland officials, the Panthers turned to the D.C. National Guard Armory and were told their presence might interfere with a possible callup of the National Guard.

They took the fight to a federal court and losing, turned to Howard.

U.S. Spending Is Expected To Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources are estimating federal spending may exceed President Nixon's $225-billion limit by $10 billion during the fiscal year that begins next July 1.

Such a $235-billion spending level would be nearly $30 billion above the official estimate for the current fiscal year. Some budget watchers in Congress predict even more spending during the next fiscal year.

The Office of Management and Budget is working on next year's budget at a more deliberate pace than usual because the new Congress apparently will delay convening until Jan. 18, two weeks later than normal.

In addition, preparation of the budget is being hampered by the uncertain status of several spending and revenue bills pending in the lame-duck session of the durrent Congress.

Budget makers also are hesitant about predicting revenues for the next fiscal year because of the uncertainty of unchecked unemployment and the failure of business to recover from the economic slump at the rate expected.

Albuquerque Santa's Day Goes Wrong

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Santa almost didn't make it to an Albuquerque shopping center where 2,000 children were waiting, but the jolly fat man is a persistent chap.

His problems started when he went to the Albuquerque Sunport Friday to board a helicopter that was supposed to land him in the middle of the shopping center before the children's delighted eyes.

Helicopters aren't as reliable as sleds. The chopper was grounded by engine failure.

Santa got back into his car and drove, but heavy traffic made him late.

The children cheered up when they saw him drive up, but began to worry when he didn't get out of the car.

He'd left his boots at the sunport.

Shopping center officials came to the rescue, providing him with substitute boots, and he returned with relief, to his traditional role, holding children on his lap, shaking hands, and listening to Christmas wishes.

Ohio Soldier Dies

Nonstop Service Set By American

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Airlines Dec. 4 will begin operating nonstop service between Columbus, Ohio, and New York City—Newark, N. J., as a result of a Civil Aeronautics Board ruling Friday.

The board upheld an examiner's decision that American, rather than Allegheny Airlines, should receive the new route.

U.S., Russia Said Near ABM Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia are nearing agreement on limiting antiballistic missile (ABM) deployment to Moscow and Washington as part of a proposed nuclear arms limitations plan.

Soviet negotiator in talks underway at Helsinki, Finland, have indicated they would prefer a "low-level" of ABM force instead of ruling out ABMs altogether.

The Nixon administration would have preferred what the experts call a "zero level". ABM restriction—that is no antibalistic missles at all. However, it advised the Russians that either a zero level or a low level ABM would be acceptable to the U.S.

Soviet negotiators on their part made it clear that the defensive missile system they favored would be one like the "galosh" system of 64 missiles which U.S. intelligence has reported as deployed around the Soviet capital. The United States has not yet set up an ABM system but is working at it.

Last August U.S. negotoators in SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks) sessions at Vienna proposed to Russia the broad outlines of a possible comprehensive agreement for nuclear arm limitations. The control of AMBs was one of the proposals and informants now say that the two sides are very close on this issue.

He conferred briefly with U.S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg today, and a U.S. Embassy spokesman said afterward that the secretary-designate did not intend to make any statement

Arms Sellers Are Sentenced In Switzerland

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Dr. Dieter Buehrle, multimillionaire head of Switzerland's largest arms making company, and five of his company's officials were convicted by the Supreme Court Friday of illegally exporting large quanties of war material to international crisis spots.

The biggest shipments went to South Africa, Israel and Egypt.

The 49-year-old Buehrle, sometimes dubbed the "Swiss Krupp," was sentenced to a suspended term of eight months in prison, and a fine of $4,000

Gabriel Lebedinsky, 56, chief of the arms sales division and a personal friend of Buehrle, received an 18-month sentence.

The four others, also employed by Werkzeugmaschinenfabrik Oerlikon Beuhrle A.G. Zurich, drew terms ranging from 16 months to a suspended three-week senttnce.

Buenrle, who conceded he is probably the richest man in Switzerland, was found guilty of violating a 1949 government decree under which embargoes are imposed on arms deliveries to countries at war or threatened by conflict. He was acquitted of charges of complicity in falsifying documents used in the shipments.

Charges against him had been limited to involvement in the sales to South Africa. They made up almost two thirds of the total illegal dealings, which were valued at $20.5 million and included sales of cannon and ammunition. The shipments were made between 1963 and 1968.

Lebedinsky, Vice Director Dr. Alexander Gelbtrb and Confidential Clerk Max Meili had pleaded guilty to charges of forgery and violating the federal decree in arranging all illegal exports, including alesto Saudi Arabia, Nigeria, Malaysia and Lebanon.

Under Swiss law conviction on charges of forging official documents can carry up to five years at hard labor. There is no appeal against a supreme court verdict.

U.S. Warplane Action Admitted

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. warplanes struck North Vietnamese antiaircraft and troop positions near the Son Tay prison camp during the unsuccessful effort to free American war prisoners, the Pentagon disclartd Friday.

This was the first time the U.S. government made known there were any such air strikes close to the camp in North Vietnam during the dramatic landing by a small force of U.S. Army and Air Force men who found the camp empty of prisoners late last week.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Daniel Z. Henkin acknowledged the nearby air actions under questioning at a news briefing, portraying the strikes as part of the rescue operation.

In disclosing the Son Tay raid last Monday, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird mentioned only diversionary dropping of flares by Navy planes along the North Vietnamese coast, but said nothing about any associated air-to-ground attacks.

Kremlin Blasts U.S. Inaction On Protesters

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin accused Washington Friday of condoning "incessant pogram sorties by unbridled anti-Soviet thugs" against Soviet personnel in the United States.

A commentary in the Sovitt Communist party newspaper Pravda said the U.S. government is obviously "conniving" with the demonstrators by refusing to restrain or punish them.

Last Saturday eight members of the Committee for the Release of Captive Jewry chained themselves inside the Washington office of the Soviet news agency Tass. Four days later a bomb caused slight damage to the New York office of the Russian airline Aeroflot. Tass blamed the explosion on members of the militant Jewish Defense League.

Pravda said such actions were in the same vein as U.S. "persecution of progressive groups inside the country and the promotion of gangsterism abroad."

Wichita State Raises Funds To Ease Tragedy's Effects

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita State University fund drive to ease the effects of a tragic plane crash will be highlighted by a star-studded campus television show Saturday night.

Gate receipts from the "Night of Stars" at the university's Henry Levitt arena are expected to hit $175,000. The money will be earmarked for the education of the 29 children and support of other dependent survivors of 31 persons killed in the Oct. 2 crash, including 14 of the school's football players.

Donations resulting from appeals during the program to be carried on 180 stations will be shared with Marshall University at Huntington, W.Va., which suffered a similar air tragedy Nov. 14. The West Virginia crash killed 75, including 38 football players.

Among the stars who are donating their services for the TV show are Bill Cosby, Kate Smith, Minnie Pearl, Phil Ford, Mimi Hines, George Gobel, Tiny Tim, Marilyn Maye and Gordon Jenkins.

Wichita State's share of the donations will go to the Football '70 Memorial Fund, which already has received $76,565.

R. D. Calvert, director of school fund-raising, said these funds will go to meet "human needs involved in the tragedy."

"Among those needs were flying parents of football players to Denver, where their sons' bodies were taken and where those who survived were hospitalized," he said.

"The fund is also used to defray expenses of returning the parents to Wichita and on to their respective homes, and for the bodies of those who died to be flown to burial sites."

Sponsors of the telecast of the Wichita State-Louisville football game Saturday have guaranteed another $20,000 for the fund. It will be broadcast over five stations in four Midwestern states.

More money is coming in from a waste paper collection drive.

A beer distributor has pledged 50 cents for every case of beer he sells from Nov. 19 through Dec. 18, with a guarantee of $7,000.

Sheriffs Study Cuyahoga Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Sheriffs Max Ross of Marion County and Hile Fyffe of Jackson County toured the Cuyahoga County Jail Friday and said they would make recommendations to the Buckeye Sheriffs' Association on how to improve the jail's security.

Ross and Fyffe viewed the escape route used by 10 prisoners in a jail break last Saturday. They said they would make their recommendations to the association's board at meetings Dec. 7 and 8 in New Philadelphia.

Three of the 10 escapees remained at large, including one man believed wounded in a gun battle Thursday with Akron police in which escapee Benjamin T. Walker, 31, of Cleveland, was killed.

RESOLUTION NO. 98-70
INTRODUCED BY
HAROLD CLIFTON
RESOLUTION PERTAINING TO EARNHART HILL WATER DISTRICT

WHEREAS, this Council has recently passed a resolution expressing concern over The Earnhart Hill Water District soliciting water users too close to the City of Circleville corporation limits, which would have adverse effects on the desired growth of said City; and

WHEREAS, said resolution did acknowledge a legitimate need existed for The Earnhart Hill Water District to serve customers in the rural area where the City of Circleville could not expect to serve immediately, nor in the reasonably foreseeable future; and

WHEREAS, the basis for passing said resolution was that it was believed by said City of Circleville, Ohio, that The Earnhart Hill Water District was soliciting in the Marshall Addition, and other areas east of the said City, and was offering certain individuals owning property on U.S. Route 22 immediately east of said City water without a tapping fee; and

WHEREAS, after a thorough investigation of the facts, including an examination of Earnhart Hill Water District's list of water users by the Chairmen of this Council's Public Utilities Committee, it is clear that The Earnhart Hill Water District is not now encroaching too closely to said City, and is adhering substantially to the boundaries established in the Rural Pickaway County, Ohio, Comprehensive Domestic Water and Sewer Plan of September, 1969, which includes leaving an area surrounding said city for future expansion of said city.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, that:

Section 1. The City of Circleville, Ohio, is satisfied with the purpose of and the present service area of The Earnhart Hill Water District, as outlined in the attached map which is hereby incorporated into and made a part of this resolution.

Section 2. Earnhart Hill Water District shall not institute the formation of a governmental water district, unless adequate provisions are made for the City of Circleville to cross such a district with its water lines to service the areas beyond the boundaries of Earnhart Hill Water District.

Section 3. The Clerk shall cause copies of this resolution to be mailed to The Earnhart Hill Water District and The Farmers Home Administration's local agent Mr. Bruce Connor.

Section 4. This resolution shall be in full force and full effect from and after the earliest date allowable by law.

Mr. Gladden Troutman's seconded the resolution, and the roll call being had upon its adoption, the resolution passed.

Westfall Cagers Crush Hamilton Township, 71-43

Bruce Beatty poured in 26 points to lead Westfall to a 71-43 win over an outclassed Hamilton Township squad Friday on the Mustangs home court.

Westfall's pressing defense took its toll on the Rangers who were held to seven points in the first quarter and limited to 16 markers at the half.

Both teams had trouble finding the hoop in the first quarter but Beatty and Larry Harris began to locate the range in the second period to take command and Westfall left the floor at halftime with a 37-16 lead.

Jerry Williams and Harris had the hot hands for Westfall in the third stanza to give the Mustangs a 55-29 margin at the end of the canto.

* * *

RANDY Alkire picked up the challenge for the Mustangs in the fourth quarter to pepper the hoop before Coach Jeff Bigam emptied his bench and put everyone into the game.

Again it was the aggressive pressing defense of the Mustangs that kept the Rangers from ever really getting into the game. They never let up and forced the Rangers into 21 turnovers. The Mustangs misplayed the ball 11 times in the contest.

Beatty hit nine of 15 shots from the field and eight of 10 from the charity stripe for his 26 markers.

Williams, Alkire and Harris each added 12, John Valone had five and Larry Kempton and Tim Neff had two apiece to account for the Mustangs scoring.

Mark Daubetz netted 12. Tom Fink had nine, Mark Crabtree eight, Greg Lafferty and Gary Johnson each had five and T. Mouser added four to the Hamilton totals.

Spartans Top OSU 4-2 In Hockey Tilt

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State's Don Thompson scored two goals in the second period Friday night as the Spartans dumped Onio State, 4-2, in a Big Ten college hockey game at East Lansing.

The losing goalie, Ohio's Bill McKenzie, was one of the game's stars. He made 39 saves —18 in the first period.

OSU's two goals were scored by Ray Meyers and Alex Luttschyn.

The win left Ohio State a 0-1 Big Ten record and a 4-2 tally for the season.

Bengals Favored To Win Over New Orleans Sunday

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals are favored to win a National Football League game for a change when they clash Sunday against New Orleans which has turned to a youth movement.

The Bengals will be shooting for a club record fourth straight victory and a club record fifth triumph in one season.

The Saints, routed last week 31-6 by Denver, plan to give some inexperienced players some action because Coach J. S. Roberts said, "We have to play these boys to see how much they progress."

Roberts has been working the young players hard in practice session and said that "I expect a much better performance this week than last."

One of the bright spots in the Saints' loss last week was the passing of Bill Kilmer who hit 20 of 34 attempts for 238 yards. But the Saints were hit by injuries again and running backs Jim Otis and Tom Barrington, both former Ohio State stars, will not be at full strength. Otis is hampered by an ankle injury and Barrington has an ailing foot.

The Bengals are in pretty good physical condition for the first meeting over between the two teams and are riding the momentum of a 34 - 7 victory over Pittsburgh last week plus triumphs in the two previous contests.

Quarterback Virgil Carter, who seems to improve every week, hit on 10 of 18 passes for two touchdowns in the Pittsburgh game and ran for a third score. He has not thrown one interception in the Bengals winning skein and ranks tops in the American Conference in the least percentage of interceptions.

"Virgil Carter has come along fine and we're getting to be a more cohesive unit all the time," Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said.

The Bengals, who dropped six straight games earlier this year, stand 4-6 and need a victory Sunday to match the best three-year record for expansion teams in pro football. It is 12-29-1 and New Orleans holds it with records of 3-11 in 1967, then 4-9-1 in 1968 and 5-9 last year. The Bengals had the same first two year records.

John Miller Holds Lead In Heritage

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — John Miller talked about pressure. Steve Melnyk talked about turning pro, and Arnold Palmer talked about winning.

"I came here to win," Palmer said Friday after shooting a one-under-par 70 in the second round of the $100,000 Heritage Golf Classic.

"I'm making no predictions, but that's what I came to do," the defending champion said.

His 143 total put him five strokes over the leading pace set by Miller, the 23-year-old who blazed in with a second-round 66 Friday for 138.

"I don't think the pressure of leading will bother me. Certainly not until Sunday at least," said Miller who is gunning for his first tour victory.

Melnyk, a bulky, 250-pound former National Amateur champion, was just one stroke off after a 67 for 139.

Melnyk, also 23, is bidding to become the first amateur in 15 years to win a pro tour event.

"I just haven't decided about turning professional," the soft-spoken, articulate young man said. "I don't think I'm ready to play professionally. But if I keep playing this well I may be forced to change my mind."

Randy Glover Leads Sea Pines Tourney

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Randy Glover credited his putter with his leading position today going into the final round of the $30,000 Sea Pines Open golf tournament.

"I didn't hit the ball too good," the 29-year-old Glover said Friday after shooting a four-under-par 68 for 209 and a three-stroke lead. "But I stayed out of trouble pretty well and I've been putting good."

He needed only 57 putts in his last two rounds.

Bruins Seek 5th Straight Cage Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — The UCLA Bruins will be playing like sixty this season in quest of a fifth straight national collegiate basketball championship.

That will be in honor of Coach Johnny Wooden, who celebrated his 60th birthday last month.

Wtih the end of the Lew Alcindor era, hardly anyone expected that UCLA would again win the national NCAA title last season.

But the Bruins surprised by winning the Pacific-8 title and then beating Long Beach State, Utah State, New Mexico State and Jacksonville in the NCAA championship tourney to finish with a 28-2 season record.

Four starters, Steve Patterson, Curtis Rowe, Sidney Wicks and Henry Bibby, are back and so UCLA is favored to once more win the Pacific-8 title in the West regional.

The Bruins' strongest competition in the 1971 season that opens Tuesday is expected from Southern California and Oregon, the only teams to beat them last season.

"I am naturally very optimistic about our prospects for the season," said Wooden in a characteristic understatement. UCA's opening game is on Friday against Baylor.

Elsewhere in the West, either U. of Pacific or San Francisco are expected to beat out Santa Clara in the WCAC, Long Beach State is favored to repeat in the PCAA and Weber State is the choice in the Big Sky Conference

The WAC again is expected to go down to the final game with Texas-El Paso, Utah and Wyoming the chief contenders.

Utah State is the most feared among the independents whose ranks include Seattle, Denver and Portland.

Mike DiBlasi Sets 8 School Records

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Mount Union College running back Mike DiBlasi set eight new school records this season in leading the Purple Raiders to the school's best ever football record of 8-1.

The senior from Hartville currently leads the nation's small colleges in individual scoring with 132 points, a school record.

Other records are his career point total of 218, 36 career touchdowns, 22 touchdowns this season, 987 yards this season, 49 carries and 269 yards in a single game this season and 219 carries for the season.

His total of 49 carries against John Carroll University is also an Onio Conference record.

Viking Victims Of Trace Rally

Teays Valley, a metropolitan League member, was edged 71-67 Friday by a last quarter rally put on by visiting Miami Trace of the South Central Ohio League in an inter-conference battle

It was the second loss for Teays Valley and turnovers by the Vikings were one of the key factors in the loss.

The Vikings trailed 17-15 at the end of the first quarter and 31-30 at halftime. During the first two periods of play they turned the ball over to the visitors 13 times while Trace only lost the ball eight times on mistakes.

The Vikings were outrebounded 18-11 in the first half but accuracy at the foul line where they made 14 points kept them in the game. The score was tied five times in the first quarter and the Vikings' only lead of the second quarter was 30-29 just before halftime.

* * *

IN the second half the Vikings came out in a full court press that rattled the visitors somewhat and late in the third period they gained a 49-38 lead. But by the end of the quarter Miami Trace had narrowed the margin to 49-44 advantage for the hosts.

The score was deadlocked seven times in the exciting final period before Greg Hedgebeth tipped in a missed foul shot with 26 seconds to go for a 69-67 edge.

Steve Bihl iced the win with just three seconds on the clock, making two charity tosses after he had been intentionally fouled to break up a stall.

Miami Trace used a 2-3 zone defense almost exclusively throughout the game, going into a full court press on occasions. Teays Valley stuck with a man to man and zone press combination for the tilt.

Teays Valley had a total of 34 turnovers, compared to 21 for the Panthers. The Vikings pulled down 24 rebounds while the Panthers cleared 27 missed shots off the boards.

Bob Tucker, senior guard, was the game's leading scorer making 12 of 24 attempts from the field and seven of nine from the foul line for a total of 31 markers. Jeff Helser was the only other Viking cager to hit double figures, canning four of seven field goal tries and five of seven shots from the foul line for 13 points.

* * *

ROUNDING out the Viking scoring, Don Neff tallied eight, Don Makarius six, Steve Bumgarner five and Jeff Sheets four.

Bihl led the Panthers with 24 markers on eight of 19 shots from the field and eight of 12 from the charity stripe.

Hedgebeth had 13 counters, Kenny Goodson 12, Jack Reno seven, Wade Braun nine, Pat Ankrom four and Dewayne Jones two.

Miami Trace won the reserve game, 47-44. The next action for Teays Valley is December 4 when they host West Jefferson. Dec. 5 the Vikings host Grove City.

Valek Out As Illinois Grid Coach

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Jim Valek's brief but controversail tenure as head football coach at Illinois is ended.

Valek, who had been fired earlier in the season only to have his players rally to the cause, was officially dismissed Friday by the University of Illinois Athletic Association's Board of Directors.

Valek, 43 and a star end for the Illini in the late 1940s, was brought in following the Illini slush fund scandal in which Coach Pete Elliott had to be fired.

In four years, Valek's teams posted an 8-32 record while players continuously left the team because of differences with the coach.

Ironically, when the board decided to fire Valek following the Ohio State game last Oct. 24, the players insisted the coach be retained for the final four games of the season.

Because the players demanded Valek be retained or they wouldn't play, the board and Athletic director Gene Vance had to relent.

Valek went before the board on Nov. 13 and again Friday before the board officially released him. Following the action, Valek, usually outspoken, had no comment.

According to history and a legend, off the Greek Island Leucas, in 31 B.C., the lighter, faster fighting ships of Octavian defeated the lumbering fleet of Antony and Cleopatra in the Battle of Actium. The Roman republic fell, the empire began, and history's famous lovers fled to suicide by the sword and asp.

Lonely Woman Finds People Still Care At Thanksgiving

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm so lonely I could die," said the letter to the editor.

"My phone never rings . . . I'm the only one on earth. How else can I feel. All alone, See no one. Hear no one. Oh, dear God, help me. . . .

"Will somebody call me?"

The letter, containing a dollar bill and six stamps for anybody who would call or write, was signed Jean Rosenstein.

The Los Angeles Times printed the letter Thanksgiving morning, adding that Mrs. Rosenstein is an 84-year-old widow and retired nurse living alone in a tiny apartment on $200 a month.

Mrs. Rosenstein received so many calls Thanksgiving Day she finally had to take the phone off the hook.

"I hope the people will forgive me," she told newsmen Friday, slightly hoarse. "I just couldn't talk anymore. The phone rang all night. I only got two hours sleep."

The next morning the mailman brought an armload of letters.

Dozens of people stopped by her apartment. Many brought or sent flowers. Every table was covered with potted plants and the bathtub was full of flowers.

"I've got the most beautiful bathtub in the world," said Mrs. Rosenstein.

"I keep saying to everybody, thank you. But it isn't enough. I want to say more."

Mrs. Rosenstein hadn't had time to open all her mail yet. People were still coming to the door Friday.

She turned down many telephoned invitations for Thanksgiving dinner and stayed by her telephone. But some of her visitors had thought of that.

"I've still got four complete turkey dinners in my refrigerator," she said.

Nixon Losing Dan Moynihan

Plans To Return To Teaching Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House adviser Daniel Patrick Moynihan has abruptly ended reports he will become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. He told President Nixon he will return to teach at Harvard University.

Until a week ago, Moynihan, chief architect of the administration's welfare reform plan, had said he planned all along to spend only two years as one of Nixon's top domestic advisers.

But, when reports from former Harvard colleagues and administration officials circulated that Moynihan would succeed Charles W. Yost at the United Nations, they were not denied by the White House.

According to the Washington Post, Moynihan was discussing difficulties involved in the eventual move as late as last Monday.

The paper said President Nixon offered and Moynihan accepted the U.N. job months back. But when reports of the impending appointment were published prematurely, Moynihan was deeply disturbed.

One of the few Democrats in the administration, he reportedly was dismayed when the Senate Finance Committee recently voted down an effort to release the welfare bill, known as the family assistance plan, to the floor of the Senate.

Moynihan wrote the President Tuesday, telling him of his plans to leave the administration at the beginning of next year, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Friday.

Bar Officials Subpoenaed In Probe

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati Bar Association officials who declined to testify Friday before the Hamilton County Grand Jury investigating alleged misconduct in the workings of the Court of Domestic Relations were re-subpoened to appear Tuesday and bring records.

Melvin Rueger, Hamilton County Prosecutor, said he would seek court orders for eight others also.

The attorneys, John Getgey and Robert O. Klausmeyer, both members of the Bar grievance committe, said under the rules of the Ohio Supreme Court, they were not free to testify on a matter that was under investigation by the Bar.

Rueger, in a news conference Friday, said he decided to seek court action for subpoenas after a spokesman for the Ohio Supreme Court told Rueger there would be no rule deviation in the case.

Rueger called for the grand jury investigation of Judge George S. Heitzler's court following newspaper reports and complaints to the Bar that bribes had been solicited by court attaches as a condition for preferential divorce settlements.

A total of 11 witnesses were called by the jury Friday.

FDA Issues 'Ineffective' Product List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has released what it says is the most complete list of ineffective drug products ever compiled.

The Food and Drug Administration said Friday some of the 359 prescription and non-prescription products were earlier declared to have little or no value in improving health. Others are already off the market.

But the agency said it decided government purchasing agencies needed a more up-to-date guide.

Among the prescription items on the list are Aureomycin lozenges, Neo-Cortef nasal sprays, various tablets containing Rauwolfia, an anti-high blood pressure compound, and Terramycin in some forms.

Non-prescription products include Colgate dental cream with Gardol, Pepsodent antiseptic mouthwash, Curad Medicated bandages and Amm-I-Dent toothpaste and tooth powder.

The toothpastes listed did not stop tooth decay, the FDA said.

The FDA said some of the drugs are simply ineffective in what their makers say they can do. Others, the agency said, are combinations of drugs which are no more effective than their component ingredients are when used separately.

The list is a product of a study done by a National Academy of Sciences board and FDA doctors who studied 3,000 different preparations approved for sale before 1962 when manufacturers were required to begin proving their products were effective as well as safe.

2 Cleveland Teens Succumb In Auto

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two Cleveland teen-agers died early today, apparently from carbon monoxide poisoning, as they sat in a car after returning from a date, police said.

Officers said the victims, Arthur St. Clair and Donna Rogers, both 18, were found by St. Clair's father. Police said the couple was slumped in the front seat of young St. Clair's car and that the motor was running. The car was in the St. Clair driveway.

Social Value Of Sex Films Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has told the Supreme Court the redeeming social value of sexy foreign films is becoming slimmer and slimmer.

Justice Department lawyers included that argument in an appeal Friday attempting to ban the Swedish film, "Language of Love."

The film was seized by Customs officials, judged obscene by a federal jury in New York and turned loose last September by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York.

The Circuit Court cited the Supreme Court's 1966 standard that material can be censored only if it's "utterly without redeeming social value."

Government lawyers argued the standard is unrealistic, and wasn't meant to be applied to movies, anyway.

"Each fresh insult to the community is taken as having established new standards of tolerance and redeeming value," said the appeal.

"Talk about the standards of the community is not very meaningful when the community is prevented from enforcing any substantial standards by this steady progression to slimmer and slimmer elements of value with more and more explicit sexual depiction."

The Swedish film, said government lawyers, contains "explicit scenes of sexual intercourse, and other sexual action and contacts, surrounded only incidentally by general discussion of sex, love and marriage."

The Circuit Court had described it as "an animated Little Golden Book of marital relations."

Report . . .

Assistant Secretary of Defense Daniel Z. Henkin told newsmen in Washington that "protective actions were taken" to cover the small force of Americans who landed in the camp 23 miles west of Hanoi and found it empty of prisoners.

Henkin indicated that there was strafing and bombing in the area "immediately adjacent" to the cap because there were known to be some enemy troops and anitaircraft installations in the area.

He acknowledged the attack under questioning at a news briefing, describing it as a diversionary action "to draw fire away from the central operation."

In Saigon today, only scattered skirmishes were reported across South Vietnam.

Man Caught In Raid Here On Probation Offense

A Chillicothe man, picked up earlier this week for violation of probation, had his probationary term continued during a Friday hearing before Judge William Ammer.

John Jewell was indicted by the September grand jury for grand larceny. He admitted to gaining entrance to the Circle Oil service station on Route 22 and 104, and making off with cash and merchandise. His jail term was suspended and he was given three years probation.

Recently Jewell was arrested in Chillicothe with a number of other persons in a drug raid in that city. No definite charges could be brought against him for drug offense, but he was charged with a misdemeanor associated with the raid. His case was reviewed in the Pickaway County Court yesterday and his probation continued on the condition that he cooperate with Chillicothe authorities in clearing up their investigation on the drug matter.
